

Kim Gryglewicz, Ph.D., MSW

Dr. Kim Gryglewicz is an Associate Professor in the School of Social Work and holds a joint appointment in the Department of Population Health in the College of Medicine at the University of Central Florida.

Dr. Gryglewicz's research focuses on improving quality of care standards and clinical care competencies for suicide care; studying social and behavioral risk determinants for health and well-being; and designing and implementing culturally responsive mental health interventions and suicide prevention programs for at-risk populations, settings, and professionals working with individuals experiencing acute and chronic psychological conditions. Read more.