

Sarah Ketchen Lipson, Ph.D., Ed.M.

(she/her/hers) Associate Professor, Boston University School of Public Health

Sarah Ketchen Lipson, Ph.D., Ed.M., is Principal Investigator of the Healthy Minds Network, which conducts the Healthy Minds Study, the largest, most comprehensive study of mental health in higher education. Her research has been funded by organizations including the National Institute of Mental Health and William T. Grant Foundation, and has been featured in numerous national and international media outlets, such as the Boston Globe, New York Times, Huffington

Post, and NPR.

Dr. Lipson received her Ph.D. from the University of Michigan, where she collaborated on a randomized control trial study of Mental Health First Aid at U.S. colleges/universities. She holds a master's degree from Harvard University and was a Fulbright scholar. She earned her bachelor's degree from Tufts University. Read more.